

Sarah Fraser Continuing Professional Development

Sarah Fraser is committed to the Institute of Healthcare Management Code of Conduct which outlines the expectations for how its members are expected to keep up to date.

1. Continuing Professional Development can come from
2. Workplace experience; such as projects and consultancy work
3. Structured learning; courses, seminars, workshops
4. Self directed learning; such as reading, research etc
5. Environment; voluntary work, secondments, presentations etc

Sarah Fraser & Associates Ltd, as a company, makes available the time and financial resources to ensure all staff members are able to seek out their desired CPD.

We feel it is important for you to know how Sarah Fraser keeps her skills up to date and ensures and assures her continuous learning process.

1. Workplace experience; assignments are chosen to build on strengths as well as, at times, to enable some personal research and development. Reflective notes are kept.
2. Self Directed learning; an avid reader, Sarah gets through 30 – 50 new books per year; she also accesses online e-learning courses
3. Voluntary work; the company commits to 5 – 10 donated/voluntary days per year and in addition, Sarah participates in a number of local community activities see Who we support...
4. Structured learning – see below

Canadian Patient Safety Institute Conference, April 2009, Toronto. Presenter and Participant

BP Level B Certificate: BPS Certificate Level B. British Psychological Society Level B Certificate in Competence for Occupational Testing February 2009

BPS Certificate Level B Intermediate Plus. British Psychological Society Level B Intermediate Plus Certificate in Competence for Occupational Testing February 2009

BPS Certificate Level A. British Psychological Society
Level A Certificate in Competence for Occupational Testing December 2008

Institute for Healthcare Improvement, National Forum,
Nashville December 2008

Systems Thinking Conference, Boston, Nov 2008
(participant)
November 2008

The making of the medieval landscape: The medieval countryside to c.1600. August 2008

Introduction to behaviour-based safety, elearning,
June 2008

Office Safety Training, elearning,
April 2008

Institute for Healthcare Improvement, Office Practice Summit, Dallas, April, 2008 (as presenter and participant)

Institute for Healthcare Improvement, National Forum, Orlando, Dec 2007 (as presenter and participant)

Open University, Creative Writing 2nd Yr level, year long course, completed Nov 2007

Systems Thinking Conference, Seattle, Nov 2007 (as team facilitator and participant)
